After Mayor Parsons commented on the Comp Plan being “A General Vision for the Town, the Mayor invited Kurt Hibbert to present the Comp Plan. The City Comprehensive Plan update has been in the works for a few years now. Some residents will remember the communities outreach questionnaires that were sent out in 2022 and public booth at 2022 Atomic Days event. Kurt Hibbert, Planner of Community Development Specialists presented highlights for the completed 2023 Comp Plan to the City Council and members of the public. Mayor Parsons then opened the Hearing for any questions or comments. A comment that has been asked several times was “where to find a copy of the new Comp Plan”? Some have read the entire document. The City has a print copy available for review upon request at the City Office. After the approval of the Comp Plan, the City plans to put up a digital copy on the City’s website. A feature of the Comp Plan that is continuing and will tie with updating City and County ordinances is a map of the Area in Arco of Impact and its zoning. The City and County P & Z Commission have discussed the boundaries of an Area of Impact during the process of writing the newly approved County Comp Plan as well as the City Comp Plan. The boundaries and zoning for an Area of Impact will be discussed again by the City and County at the January 2024 Planning & Zoning meeting. Once the City and County agree on the boundaries and proposed zoning, the map will be presented to the public. A large map of the proposed Area of Impact has been, and will remain, posted on the Information Board at the City Office. In order to finalize the Area of Impact and zoning, a written agreement between the City and County is required for the Area of Impact process to become fully in working order. Councilman Tessmer stressed that the Comp Plan is a living document, meant to be powerful, and to address community desires and land use issues as they arise. At 7:15 p.m. Mayor Parsons closed the Public Hearing portion of the meeting.

Immediately following the Public Hearing, the City Council started on the Council agenda items. Mayor made note that the meeting’s agenda needed one amendment to add discussion of the Park Improvement Project to the list status updates from Forsgren Associates that was already on the agenda.
